

THE ROSE GARDEN AT CAPE CORAL MUSEUM OF HISTORY

In 1990, Lois E. Herbert was seeking a way to pay tribute to the memory of her father, Russell Herbert, and she approached the Cape Coral Historical Society with the idea of establishing a rose garden at the Historical Society property as a way of memorializing not only her father but also the famous original Cape Coral Rose Gardens. Huge quantities of soil were brought in and plants selected and planted by the Fort Myers Rose Society. The Garden was dedicated on Memorial Day 1991, when a time capsule was also installed. The garden is now maintained by volunteers from the Garden Club of Cape Coral

If you would like to donate a rose in a loved one's memory or honor, please complete an application form and return it to the Cape Coral Museum of History, 544 Cultural Park Blvd., Cape Coral, FL 33990. The cost is $55 per rose. Please make checks payable to Cape Museum of History. Thank you.
